PAIN AND KAMPO MEDICINE Vol.17 (2007)

The pain clinic combined with a herb medicine, acupuncture, and nervous block

Hiroshi Saito *

Abstract: I have been giving the acupuncture treatment contrived by Genko Kimura for the back of a hand at my outpatient department of pain clinic. The treatment can be done in a short time. Because the treatment doesn't need a bed, it needs only small space. In the process of searching the cause of the patients whose chief complaints are the pain, unexpected diseases are sometimes found. It is useful for the distinction between angina and subcostalgia.

Key words: acupuncture treatment, the back of a hand
